Dartmouth College

Tuck School of Business
The Tuck School of Business focuses on the full-time, two year MBA. Every element in the academic experience—team-based projects, experiential and global learning, case-based courses and more—is designed to push students further than they thought possible, in order to develop wise leaders who aspire to better the world of business. To understand how others live and work, through TuckGO students participate in global courses that provide them the skills and knowledge to navigate diverse business environments. Last year, students went to 28 different countries. More than 70 percent of our graduates achieve management positions in their fields, yet they remain important allies to other Tuckies. More than two-thirds donate money to the school each year (nearly triple the average rate of our peers) and The Economist ranked Tuck #1 in alumni responsiveness. This is the support that you can expect as a student and throughout your career. www.tuck.dartmouth.edu

The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy

Tufts University
The Fletcher School is distinctive among leading professional schools of international affairs for our collaborative, cross-disciplinary approach to identifying and illuminating those connections. Students representing more than 70 countries join with an experienced faculty to inform classroom discussions with diverse viewpoints. Immersed in this dynamic environment, broadly knowledgeable and inquisitive leaders develop a thorough and nuanced grounding in the latest political, economic, business and legal thinking and translate it into practical successful actions that shape international issues and events. The flexibility of our curriculum allows students to tailor their education to their particular interests and to explore those interests from new perspectives. Both professors and alumni are active players on the global stage who are ready and willing to share their experiences and contacts in the public, private and nonprofit sectors. fletcher.tufts.edu
