The University of New Hampshire School of Law is an intimate, innovative law school, committed to developing students who enjoy challenging dialogue from the first moments of orientation, embrace practice-based learning, and stand ready to join the ranks of alumni who are global leaders in intellectual property, general practice, public interest and social justice, and commerce and technology. law.unh.edu

Northeastern University School of Law
Experiential learning is a hot topic in legal education today, but at Northeastern University School of Law, it’s old hat. Developed in 1968, our Cooperative Legal Education Program allows students to gain invaluable full-time work experience from over 900 domestic and international employers. Combining rigorous academics with practical training, students still graduate in three years but embark on their careers with at least 1,500 hours on the job. Northeastern cultivates a culture of cooperation, collaboration and innovation that empowers our students to take intellectual risks and prepares them to make waves as legal professionals. Consistently recognized as one of the nation’s best public interest programs, Northeastern’s commitment to social justice extends throughout the curriculum and community. Our talented students and faculty know how lawyers should do what they do and the difference they can make in the lives of others. http://www.northeastern.edu/law
Quinnipiac University

Our strong placement record opens extraordinary opportunities to our graduates not only in top law firms, but also in high technology, pharmaceutical, biomedical, government, and public interest organizations. http://law.shu.edu

Suffolk University Law School
For more than 100 years, Suffolk Law has produced some of the nation’s most distinguished legal professionals. With an emphasis on real world practice and experiential learning, Suffolk Law is an incredible place to start, build, and launch a successful career and life in the law. Our law school is located in the heart of downtown Boston, steps from the Massachusetts State House, the Financial District, and less than a 10 minute walk from 14 state and federal courthouses. At Suffolk Law, students get a world-class education in the classroom and practical hands-on training through our nationally ranked clinics, international internships, in-school law practice, and semester-in-practice field placements. law.suffolk.edu

Tulane University Law School
Tulane Law School, established in 1847, is the 12th oldest law school in the United States. It is located on Tulane University’s main campus in uptown New Orleans. Tulane offers both a 3-year full-time JD program and five different LLM programs for students already holding a first law degree. From its founding, Tulane has offered its students the opportunity to study both of the world’s great legal systems—the common law system upon which English and US law is based, and the civil law system governing most of the rest of the world. www.law.tulane.edu

Vermont Law School
Vermont Law School offers JD, Master’s, and LLM programs that specialize in a broad array of social justice issues with strong emphasis placed on core doctrinal knowledge coupled with hands-on clinical experience. In addition, Vermont Law features distinctive programs in international law and dual JD/Master’s degree programs in business administration, environmental policy, and other fields. The experiential education VLS provides prepares its graduates to engage the critical issues of our time. vermontlaw.edu
