Policy and Public Affairs

American University, School of Public Affairs

Earn a PhD, MPA, MPP, or master’s degree in government, political communications, or justice from SPA, a top-ranked school of its kind in the nation’s capital. At the School of Public Affairs, you will explore your field with top experts. The School’s faculty are leaders in political science, government, justice, and public administration and policy. These scholars’ work shapes our world. With SPA professors, your experience in the classroom will be stimulating, challenging, and worthwhile. www.american.edu/spagrad

University of Maryland, School of Public Policy

The Maryland School of Public Policy offers masters degrees in public policy and public management designed to meet the unique needs of the many different students attracted to international and public service. We have specializations in: International Security and Economic Policy, International Development, Environmental Policy, Energy Policy, Social Policy, Education Policy, Health Policy, Public Sector Financial Management, Public Management and Leadership, Federal Acquisitions Management, Non-profit Management and Leadership, Graduates go on to work in the public sector, non-profits, NGOs and private industry. www.publicpolicy.umd.edu

University of Southern Maine, Graduate Studies

The University of Southern Maine offers 50+ programs at the master’s, doctoral and certificate levels, including programs in Business, Education, Leadership, Creative Writing, Music, Policy, Planning and Management – as well as Public Health, Social Work, Counseling, Biology, Nursing and Occupational Therapy, among many others. https://usm.maine.edu/graduate

University of Massachusetts Boston, School for the Environment

The School for the Environment is the University of Massachusetts Boston’s premier transdisciplinary environmental school. The School integrates the natural and social sciences, liberal arts, governance, and business to generate and apply new knowledge about the quality of our environment and the sustainable use of its resources. We offer MS and PhD programs in Environmental Science and Marine Science and Technology, a Professional Science Masters, and an MS in Urban Planning and Community Development. https://www.umb.edu/academics/environment

Merrimack College, Graduate Admissions

Merrimack College offers graduate programs in the following areas: accounting, management, public affairs, engineering, computer science, education, counseling, and health sciences. All of our graduate programs are full-time, intensive degree programs, which can also be completed on a part-time, flexible schedule. There is no fee to apply and applications are accepted on a rolling admission basis. merrimack.edu/graduate

New York University, Wagner School of Public Service

Students arrive at NYU Wagner with the desire to serve the public. They leave with the skills and experience to bring about change. Combining coursework in management, finance and policy with cutting-edge research and work experience in urban communities, the NYU Wagner education will enable you to transform your personal commitment into public leadership. http://www.wagner.nyu.edu

SIT Graduate Institute

SIT Graduate Institute is a nonprofit, accredited graduate school that offers master’s degrees, graduate level certificates, and professional development programs. Our students are passionate people seeking careers that make a difference in the lives of others. SIT programs—in international education, sustainable development, peace and conflict, and TESOL—are offered through on-campus and hybrid formats to accommodate a global student body living and working around the world. All students gain professional work experience as part of their graduate study and go on to become part of a strong network of change makers and educators around the world. http://graduate.sit.edu