Arts & Communications

See descriptions below list
Bard Graduate Center, MA and PhD programs
Champlain College, MFA In Emergent Media
CUNY Graduate School of Journalism
Rhode Island School of Design, Graduate Studies
Syracuse University, S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications

Bard Graduate Center, MA and PhD programs
The Bard Graduate Center, founded in 1993, is a postgraduate research institute based in New York City that supports teaching, research and exhibitions devoted to studying the cultural history of the material world. At the crossroads where art history, history, anthropology and archaeology meet, our MA and PhD programs produce scholars able to unite the object-centered vision of the curator with the question-driven horizons of the professor. Our MA program is a two-year program and includes coursework, a study trip abroad, an internship requirement, and a qualifying paper. www.bgc.bard.edu

Champlain College, MFA In Emergent Media
Established in 1878, Champlain College, located in the waterfront city of Burlington, Vermont, has a reputation for career-minded success. The MFA in Emergent Media builds upon the strengths of Champlain’s internationally renowned Emergent Media Center and Champlain’s long tradition of innovative program development in areas such as graphic design, digital filmmaking, software engineering, game design, game programming and web design. Students explore the crossroads of art, innovation and technology to help define the next generation of expressive media communications and interactive design. The Champlain College MFA in Emergent Media provides a personal and rigorous experience for creative thinkers looking to build rewarding careers around media, technology and design. http://www.champlain.edu/mfa/masters-fine-arts

CUNY Graduate School of Journalism
CUNY Graduate School of Journalism offers an intensive, multimedia focused, three-semester Master of Arts degree in Journalism located in the heart of New York City, media capital of the world; a Master’s degree in Entrepreneurial Journalism; a unique, one-semester advanced certificate in Entrepreneurial Journalism for mid-career professionals, and the CUNY J-Camp, a year round series of Continuing Professional Development workshops, including the CUNY Publishing Institute and the exciting new Summer Intensive Digital Journalism Workshops, for individuals and news organizations focused on emerging trends and skill sets in the industry. http://journalism.cuny.edu
Rhode Island School of Design, Graduate Studies
The Division of Graduate Studies oversees RISD’s 22 master’s programs in 16 disciplines in the fine arts, architecture, design and art education, and works to support a dynamic and interdisciplinary culture of advanced research, scholarship and critical making. Degree Programs: MFA Ceramics MFA Furniture Design MFA Digital + Media MFA Glass MFA Graphic Design MFA Jewelry + Metallurgy MFA Painting MFA Photography MFA Printmaking MFA Sculpture MFA Textiles MAT Teaching + Learning in Art + Design M.Arch I Architecture MA Interior Architecture MDes Interior Architecture MID Industrial Design MLA I+II Landscape Architecture www.risd.edu

Syracuse University, S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications
The Newhouse School is one of the nation’s premier communications schools where talented students come to study and learn from top industry professionals. We pride ourselves on the highest caliber education made possible by an incredible, forward-thinking faculty and state-of-the-art facilities. We offer 13 professional master’s degree programs in public communications, most of which can be completed in one calendar year. Advertising Arts Journalism Audio Arts Broadcast and Digital Journalism Computational Journalism Documentary Film and History Magazine, Newspaper and Online Journalism Media and Education New Media Management Photography Public Diplomacy (two years, dual degree) Public Relations Television, Radio and Film http://newhousemasters.syr.edu