

---

Global Medical Ethics

---

*Islamic, Confucian, Buddhist,
& Western Perspectives*

David Cummiskey

GLOBAL MEDICAL ETHICS:
*Islamic, Confucian, Buddhist,
And Western Perspectives

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I. Introduction

1. Global Ethics
2. Cultural Traditions and Moral Theory
3. The Transformation of Western Bioethics
4. Cultural Relativism and Universal Moral Principles

PART ONE: MORAL THEORY

II. Islamic Ethics, Casuistry and Principles

5. The Messenger: The Life of Muhammad
6. The Five Pillars of Islam
7. The Four Sources of Sharia
8. Casuistry as Method – Case-based Reasoning
9. The Principles of Islamic Medical Ethics
Appendix I – Jihad: The Sixth Pillar of Islam
Appendix II – The Sunni-Shi'a Split

Also see sections 31, 33, 41-42, 53 & 55

III. Confucian Ethics and the Limits of Rights Theory

10. The Confucian Worldview: The East Asian Paradigm
11. The Five Core Human Relationships
12. Progressive Confucianism
13. Responsibilities and Human Rights
Appendix: Confucian Opposition to Human Rights

Also see sections 24, 30, 37, 52, & 55

IV. Buddhist Ethics and Virtue Ethics

14. The Buddha and The Middle Path
15. The Four Noble Truths
16. Interdependent Origination and Emptiness
17. Buddhist and Confucian Ethics
18. Basic Buddhist Precepts – The Ethics of Restraint
19. Virtue Ethics and Boundless Compassion
20. The Limits of the Ideal

Also see sections 34, 43, 54, & 55

PART TWO: MEDICAL ETHICS

V. The Medical Relationship: Paternalism and Autonomy

21. The Genealogy of Medical Ethics: 1847-2001
22. Physician Authority and Therapeutic Privilege
23. Medical Research and Consent
24. The Physician-Patient Relationship Reconsidered
25. The Elements of Informed Consent
26. The Right to Refuse and Proxy Consent
27. Family Consent and the Confucian Paradigm
28. Professional Ethics and the Muslim Patient
- Appendix: Codes of Medical Ethics

VI. Reproductive Ethics [In Progress]

29. [Personhood, Potentiality, and Competing Claims]
30. Islamic Ethics of Abortion
31. Buddhism and Abortion: Japan and Tibet
32. [Assisted Reproduction: Islamic and Buddhist Approaches]
33. [The Ethics of Cloning and Genetic Engineering]

VII. Declaring Death, Giving Life

34. Brain Death in Global Perspective
Basic Issues
35. The Three Conceptions of Death
36. Minimally Conscious States and Persistent Vegetative States
37. Giving Life: Organ Transplantation
Global Perspectives
38. Islamic Conception of Death
39. Organ Donation: Desecration, Charity, and Necessity
40. [Buddhism, Death, and the Gift of Life]

VIII. The Role of Medicine at the End of Life

- Basic Issues*
41. Allowing Natural Death
42. Freedom of Conscience, Self-Determination, and the Right to Die
43. The Priority of Persons over mere Preferences
44. Limits on the Right to Die: Debbie vs. Diane
45. The Role of the Physician: Compassion in Dying
46. Intending and Foreseeing Death: the Doctrine of Double Effect
47. The Right to Die as a Basis for Health Care Rights
Global Perspectives
48. The Dutch and German Approaches
49. Confucian Ethics, Filial Piety, and Hastening Death
50. Islamic Ethics and the Significance of the Divine Will
51. Buddhism on Allowing Death, Hastening Death and Karma

IX. Health Care Justice: The Social Insurance Approach

- 52. The Right to Health Care
  - 53. The Social Insurance Model
  - 54. The Public-Private Distinction Reconsidered
  - 55. Private Markets and Social Insurance
  - 56. Poverty and Public Health
- Appendix: Health Care Statistics Cited

X. Conclusion      [In progress]