On the second page of this form, for each of your choices, provide a title and ONE-paragraph description of two distinct proposed projects / experiences. If the two different projects both include a thesis semester or year, the thesis portions must be associated with different faculty members. You must discuss each project / experience with the associated faculty mentor(s). Their signature is needed to indicate that they are willing to sponsor the proposed Capstone project / experience.

The Department of Biology cannot promise that a student will get her or his choice(s), but the faculty will try to accommodate student preferences whenever possible.

From the College catalog: Bio 460. Junior Seminar. Reading original biological literature is an essential skill for biology majors. Focusing on the topics addressed by invited speakers for the semester's biology seminar program, students review articles, write analyses, and contribute oral presentations in a small group format. Students attend afternoon and/or evening seminars and discuss the content, context, and presentation of original investigations. Prerequisite(s): BIO 190, 242, and 270. One of these courses may be taken concurrently, only by permission of the instructor. Not open to students who have received credit for NRSC 460. Enrollment limited to 19. [W3] Normally offered every year. Staff.
