RE: Bates Facts 2011-2012

This is the seventeenth annual edition of Bates Facts, a common source of basic factual information about Bates. It is distributed to members of the Bates community to be used as a reference guide, and should reduce confusion by making a standard set of data and information about the college available to all.

The information reflects the 2011-2012 academic year, or (where specified) the most recent figures available. The most current information may be obtained from the office responsible for that area, or from the Office of Institutional Research and Assessment Support. Bates Facts is posted on-line at <<http://www.bates.edu/research/bates-facts/>>.

To avoid misrepresenting the college, members of the Bates community who respond to external surveys and data requests should have their final data verified by the Office of Institutional Research and Assessment Support before submitting any Bates data.

Please call the Office of Institutional Research and Assessment Support at ext. 8210 or e-mail at cbates@bates.edu if you have comments or questions, or if you have suggestions for new information to include in future editions of Bates Facts.

Double Majors

The double major requires completion of all major requirements in two academic departments or programs.

Individual Interdisciplinary Major

Students may propose an individual interdisciplinary major; which involves a detailed program of study with courses drawn from at least two department(s) and/or program(s), but only one senior thesis and/or comprehensive examination.

Liberal Arts-Engineering Dual Degree Program

After three or four years of full-time study at Bates, qualified students may enroll in a two-year engineering program at Columbia University, Dartmouth College, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Case Western Reserve University, or Washington University. Students earn both an undergraduate degree in engineering from Bates and a Bachelor of Science from the engineering-school affiliate.

Bates Facts 11-12

Bates and the Community

Harvard Center for Community Partnerships

Academic Community Learning

- Half of all students engage in academic community-based work during their time at Bates.
- In 2010-2011, 963 Bates students were involved in more than 41,478 hours of academic community-based work through 44 courses.
- Sixteen students participated in our Community-Based Research Fellows program, representing several departments.

Community Volunteerism and Student Leadership Development

- In 2010-2011, 11,923 documented hours of volunteer service were given by Bates students.
- Twenty-two students participated in the Bonner Leader Program, devoting six-to-eight hours per week working in the community and another two hours per week engaged in training and reflection activities.

The Bates – Morse Mountain Conservation Area

- More than 16,000 people visited this area in 2010-2011, which is home to two endangered bird species.
- Faculty in four courses used the Bates-Morse Mountain Conservation Area. In addition, three other colleges used the site.
- Eighteen grade schools visited the conservation area, representing 639 students.

Bates Dance Festival

- In 2012 the Bates Dance Festival, a program of Bates College, celebrates its 30th anniversary as an internationally recognized program that presents acclaimed contemporary dance performances, supports creative residencies for choreographers from around the globe, and provides training and professional development to over 360 dance students, artists and educators who gather on campus each summer for six weeks of immersion.
- Each summer the Festival also connects 60 local youth aged 7 to 16 with renowned artist/educators through the Youth Arts Program, a three-week arts camp offering training in the performing and visual arts.
- Participating in the Bates Dance Festival is now required curriculum for the new Dance major at Bates.

Bates College Museum of Art

- Each year between 12,000 and 15,000 people visit the Museum of Art. The Museum sponsors a number of educational programs, among them the Thousand Words Project, which served approximately 1,300 students in 09-10, including all 7th and 8th grade public school students from Lewiston and Auburn and a team of students from Lewiston High School.
